Germany Rejects Peace Except Upon Guarantees Against Future Attack by Enemies.

LONDON, March 16 .- A Reuter dispatch from Berlin, by way of Amsterdam, quotes the German minister of the interior and vice chancellor, Clemens Delbrucck, as declaring in a speech in the upper chamber Germany's intention to continue the war until she obtained the guarantees she desired. "If we were satisfied merely with repelling the enemy," said the vice chan cellor, "we should soon have peace. But we cannot rest satisfied with that -prepare the stationery for alone; we shall not sheath the sword many important weddings, until we obtain guarantees that our enemies will not attack us again. Discussion of these guarantees at the present moment would not further German interests."

Cementing of Partisan Elements. Herr Delbrueck spoke after the upper hamber had adopted the budget without discussion. This, he said, was un-precedented, adding: "It shows that all partisan elements are now united by firm determination to win the war which has been forced upon us. defeated by our unconquerable troops continued the vice chancellor, "and they

The hope was expressed by the Secreary that as the Pennsylvania goes forth as the symbol of American justice and power her mission would the war.

In size and gun power the Pennsylvania is greater even than the Queen Elizabeth of the British navy, which led the recent terrific assault of the almes on the forts of the Dardanelles. While the British monster carries larger guns, her main battery is only two-thirds the size of that of the Pennsylvania in number, and the American battleship is 3,000 tons greater in size.

The main battery of the Pennsylvania will consist of twelve fourteen-inch 45-caliber rifles, set in four turrets, three guns to a turret, the plan of big gun arrangement adopted in the sister ships which preceded her—the Nevada and Oklahoma. Her tonnage measurement is 31,400, against 27,500 for the Nevada and Oklahoma and the Queen Elizabeth. The latter, however, carries eight fifteen-inch rifles, 45 caliber, set two to a turret, while the Nevada and Oklahoma have ten fourteen-inch rifles each in two three-gun and two two-gun turrets. In all these ships, including the Pennsylvania, the turrets are all on the center line to concentrate their fire on either broadside.

Five battleships of the British navy

Five battleships of the British navy yet to be launched will have less tonage than the Pennsylvania, the ships of the Royal Sovereign class being of 24,500 tons displacement, and none will equal the Pennsylvania in armament. Each is designed to carry eight fifteen-inch guns.

known here officially.

Five ships of the Japanese navy, estimated for in 1914, and known as the Fuso class, will not equal the Pennsylvania in tonnage with their displacement of 30,000 tons, but will carry the same main battery of twelve fourteeninch rifles. They will exceed the Pennsylvania in speed, estimates calling for twenty-two knots, against twenty-one knots for the Pennsylvania.

The 1914 estimates for the German navy call for three ships of the Kaiser Friedrich III class, with a displacement of 29,000 tons, and carrying eight fifteen-inch rifles.

The British ships of the Queen Elizabeth class greatly exceed those of any

The British ships of the Queen Elizabeth class greatly exceed those of any other navy in speed, requirements calling for twenty-five knots an hour, while the Royal Sovereign class will make at least 22.5 knots.

Since the outbreak of the war details as to foreign navai programs have been jealously guarded, and it is probable that Great Britain, Germany and France have laid down many vessels of which no report has been made. So far as is known, however, no vessels have been planned which will exceed in size the three American ships of the California class, work on which has barely started. These will have a displacement of 32,000 tons each and armament equal to that of the Pennsylvania.

The cruising radius of the Pennsylvania will be considerably increased by the fact that she will be equipped for oil fuel exclusively, and will have a capacity of 2,322 tons of fuel oil. The Queen Elizabeth has a capacity of 4,000 tons of oil because of her high speed requirements.

Seven-and-a-Half-Ton Broadsides. From her enormous main battery the Pennsylvania will be able to hurl, with the pressure of a single firing lever, seven and one-half tons of steel on either broadside. In addition she will # carry a secondary battery of twenty-two five-inch rifles for defense against torpedo boats. She will be fitted also with four submerged twenty-one-inch torpedo tubes, and her ship's company will be composed of 65 officers, 862 bluejackets and 74 marines. The ship measures 608 feet over all and 97 feet beam, and her mean draft is 28 feet 10 inches, almost the limit in size for the Fanama canal and present navy dry docks. There are but few docks in the world which can receive her, and she could not enter many busy harbors except under most favorable conditions of tide and wind. When completed the Pennsylvania will have cost the government more SEIZURE OF THE DACIA DESCRIBED BY CREW
